

**Job Opportunity: Community Engager****

About the Job: SHG Advisors is working with Denver Human Services to learn about what people in Denver need. We want to hear from people who need help with things like jobs, school, housing, and food. We are looking for someone to help us talk to people in the community to understand what these needs look like.

What You Will Do: You will go out into Denver and talk to people who do not have enough money for the basic things they need to live a healthy and safe life.. You will ask them to fill out a short survey about what kind of help they need. You can help them fill it out if they need it. The survey can be done on paper or online. You might also post flyers for the survey in common meeting spaces, ask others to share the survey with their community, and answer any questions people might have about what happens to their input on this survey.

All answers to the survey are private. No one's name will be shared and if people do not feel comfortable sharing their name or personal information, they do not have to. Once they complete the survey, people can choose to give their contact information for the chance to win a gift card. They can also share contact information if they would like to participate in a longer 1-on-1 interview or focus group. (We will offer gift cards to people for their participation in the 1-on-1 survey or focus groups.)

Each week, you will send an email to our team to share what you did. You will also keep track of where you went, how many people you talked to, and how many surveys you know were completed.

We will also give you money to help pay for your travel around Denver.

Who We Are Looking For:

These are the preferred skills and experience that we are looking for:

- ◆ Someone who has worked with or cares about people who do not have enough money for the basic things they need to live a healthy and safe life.
- ◆ Someone who has personally lived or lives without enough money for the basic things they need to live a healthy and safe life.
- ◆ Someone who feels comfortable talking to new people
- ◆ Someone who is kind and respectful to everyone

- ◆ Someone with good speaking and writing skills
- ◆ Someone who stays organized
- ◆ Someone who speaks both English and Spanish (very helpful!)
- ◆ Someone who lives in Denver (very helpful!)

Pay:

This job pays $55 per hour. It is a short-term, part-time job with about 50 total hours of work over a 4-week period. This is a contract job, so it does not include benefits.

How to Apply:

Send these two things to community@shgadvisors.com:

- ◆ A short letter that explains why you want this job, what experience you have, and that you know it is a short-term, part-time role
- ◆ Your resume

This job posting will close on Friday, April 24th, 2026.

We welcome applications from everyone. We are committed to Employment Equity and encourage applications from all qualified candidates.
